Kansas Gives Back.

In 2021, more than 706,000 residents volunteered through an organization contributing $1.4 billion in economic value.

More than 1.2 million residents helped their neighbors in the height of the pandemic.

Volunteer Kansas announced nearly 707,000 volunteers served 53.1 million hours in Kansas between September 2020 and 2021 despite the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic.

This according to the Volunteering and Civic Life in America research. The research also estimates that volunteers generated nearly $1.4 billion in economic value in the state of Kansas.

The Volunteering and Civic Life in America research is the most comprehensive data on American volunteering and civic engagement assembled. Based on a survey conducted by AmeriCorps and the US Census every other year, the research includes data on volunteering through organizations, informal helping and other civic behaviors.

The most recent results find that over half of Americans, or 124.7 million people, informally helped their neighbors at least once in the past year. Additionally, more than 23 percent of Americans, or 60.7 million people, formally volunteered with an organization, giving more than 4.1 billion hours of service with an estimated economic value of $122.9 billion.
